Leadership and Art
Art 279/02 Leadership Studies 390/02 Music 302/01
Spring 2007
Monday and Wednesday 4:15-5:30
Jepson Hall room 107

Jennifer Cable, Booker Hall 105 ex 8284
Joanne Ciulla, Jepson 244 ex 6083
Charles Johnson, Jepson 130 ex 8284

Course Description
In this course we will explore the role of the arts in leadership. When scholars define leadership, their definition usually consists of three elements: motivation, change, and morality. Leaders motivate people to work towards a new common goal and they create a vision of what that goal should be. Built into the concept of a leader is the idea that the leader will influence people, not use brute force or manipulate them, and bring about change that is morally good. Similarly, one might characterize art as having three aspects, emotion, creativity, and morality. Artists move people (in the emotional sense) by creating something new. Leaders move people (in the motivational sense) to create something new. The work of the artist and the leader often intertwine. Sometimes artists are leaders in that they and/or their work bring about a change in people and society. Sometimes leaders use the arts to help motivate people, communicate their messages, animate change, or inspire followers to be better people and/or commit their energy to some greater good. The arts influence the public’s image of leaders and leadership by portraying leaders as they are or as they should be. Leaders use art to create their public image. (Consider, the use of images and music in the biographical videos and campaign ads used in political campaigns.) Leaders also employ the arts to convey their ideas for change or a vision of a better future. The class will consist of lecture and discussion. It will also include various artists scheduled to perform at the Modlin Center and university museums.

Objectives
In this course students will:

- Learn some basic concepts about the nature of leadership, art, and music
- Analyze the ways in which leaders use art and music to motivate people and articulate their vision for change
- Examine the ways in which art motivates people to bring about change in society
- Design a work of that intends to motivate people, morally elevate people, and bring about change
• Compare and contrast the way that a work of art and a leader influence people

Texts
All other readings will be posted on Blackboard. Music and images or artworks will also be posted on Blackboard.

Requirements
15% 3 Short reaction papers on exhibits & performances. These papers are due the next class after the performance (5% each)
20% Exam I, Feb. 26
40% Term project (done in pairs): Research Paper 15% due on Feb. 28 before 5:00, Design Project 15%, Reflection paper 5%, presentation 5%
20% Exam II, Apr. 23
5% Participation

Performances & Exhibits Eligible for Short Papers
Jan. 22 News of the Colonies: Prints, Maps and Perceptions of the New World: Concert 7PM Camp Concert Hall with exhibition opening to follow in the Joel and Lila Harnett Print Study Center.
Feb. 7 7:00-9:00PM Brown Alley Room, Weinstein Hall Anthony Davis lecture: From Malcolm X to Patty Hearst: The Politics of Staging Politics on the Contemporary American Stage
Feb. 19 Concert: Soweto Gospel Choir, Camp Concert Hall, 7:30PM (tickets required)
Feb. 21 7:30 Eight Blackbird, Camp Concert Hall Booker Hall of Music (tickets required)
Mar. 28 SPEAK Theater Arts, Alice Jepson Theater 7:30 (tickets required)
*List of art exhibits and dates will be handed out in class.

Policies
Unexcused absences and failure to carry your fair share on group projects will hurt your participation grade. You should not take this course if you cannot attend the Sunday, March 18 design session and at least three of the performances indicated on the syllabus. Late papers will not be accepted, even if they are the result of a computer problem. Cell phones should be shut off at the beginning of class and computers should not be on the Internet in class, unless they are being used as part of a class project. We expect all students to be courteous (i.e. show up for class on time, not get up and walk out in the middle of class, be considerate of other students), and play an active role in contributing to the class. Regard this syllabus as a contract.

Class Schedule

Part I. Introduction: Basic Concepts in Music, Art, and Leadership
In this section of the course we begin with some basic theories and concepts in the study of leadership, music, and art.
Jan. 15
Course introduction (Class time: 4:40-5:20)
We will go over the syllabus and explain the semester long research project and other assignments.

Jan. 17
Basics of Music

Jan. 22
Basics of Art
Readings:

Jan. 22
News of the Colonies: Prints, Maps and Perceptions of the New World:
Concert 7PM Camp Concert Hall with exhibition opening to follow in the Joel and Lila Harnett Print Study Center.

Jan. 24
Basics of Leadership
Reading:
- DePree, Max. “What is Leadership?” Leadership is an Art, pp. 11-22.

Part II. The Role of Art in Leadership
In this section we look at these questions: How leaders use art to lead and to achieve their goals? What kinds of relationships do leaders have with artists? Are artists morally responsible for the way that leaders use their work? Do leaders have an obligation to protect their followers from art that they think is immoral?

Jan. 29
The Nature of Creativity
Readings:
- Gardner, “Approaches to Creativity,” pp. 19-45

Jan. 31
The Artist as S.O.B: Pablo Picasso and Igor Stravinski
Readings:
- Gardner, “Pablo Picasso: Prodigiousness and Beyond,” 137-185

Excerpts from:

Listening: excerpts from works by Stravinsky available on Blackboard

Feb. 5

Readings:

Artists Who Praise and Blame Leaders

Comments and brief descriptions on the fabulously successful lives of Rubens, Van Dyck, and Velazquez, the tragedy of Masaccio and Caravaggio, the problems of Goya, and the painful lives of Van Gogh, the German Expressionists, Pollock and Rothko, all of whom had lives affected by leaders . . .

Feb. 7

Composer Anthony Davis visits class.

Readings:

The Patty Hearst saga: http://www.crimelibrary.com/classics4/hearst/

Donal Henahan's write up in the NYTimes: “X, The Life and Times of Malcolm X”

Additional resources on Malcolm X, as well as the opera:
http://topics.nytimes.com/top/reference/timestopics/people/m/malcolm_x/index.html?s=oldest&

Listening: excerpts from X, The Life and Time of Malcolm X available on Blackboard

Feb. 7 7:00-9:00PM Brown Alley Room, Weinstein Hall Anthony Davis lecture: From Malcolm X to Patty Hearst: The Politics of Staging Politics on the Contemporary American Stage.
Feb. 12  Art as a Voice for Religion and Faith
Ozment, Steven. The Age of Reform, 1250-1550: An Intellectual and Religious History of Late Medieval and Reformation Europe. Yale University Press, 1980. (excerpts from this source)

Optional readings:  Harnett, Joel. An American Revolution: Separation of Church and State. 2004 @ Copyright, Joel W. Harnett.
Excerpts from the writings of Nicolas of Cusa (Nicolaus Cusanus): The Vision of God explains the deeply religious aspect of Van Eyck’s painting.

Part III. Art as a Vehicle of Change
In this section we look at the artist as leader and the sense in which a work of art can lead.
To what extent are artists morally responsible for the impact of their art on others? How do artists as creators and critics bring about social change? How does leadership work in groups of artists? What can a work of art do that a leader cannot do? Why do some artists’ works change their field? What does engaging in a design process teach you about how to motivate people and influence change?

Feb. 14  Artists Working in Groups: Guilds, Academies, and Vanguard Friends

Feb. 19  Artists as Agents of Change: Freedom Music and the Struggle Against Apartheid Soweto Gospel Choir visits class
Reading:  Soweto Gospel Choir history:
http://www.sowetogospelchoir.com/HISTORY.html
This second site has songs recorded live at NPR studios that can be download: http://www.npr.org/templates/story/story.php?storyId=4485219
Video:  Amandla! A Revolution in Four-Part Harmony
Listening: excerpts from Soweto Gospel Choir performances available on Blackboard

Feb. 19  Concert: Soweto Gospel Choir, Camp Concert Hall, 7:30PM (tickets required)

Feb. 21  The dynamics of leadership in groups of musicians. The musical group
Eighth Blackbird visits class.
Listening: Rhiannon’s Blackbird by Joseph Schwanter available on Blackboard

Feb. 21
7:30 Eight Blackbird, Camp Concert Hall Booker Hall of Music (tickets required)

Feb. 26  Exam I

Feb. 28  Papers Due by 5:00 No class to compensate for Mar. 21 evening studio class.

Assignment:
Over semester break students should start collecting visuals of objects and rituals that define power relations relevant to their research. These can be clippings from magazines, or other objects that you would like to make part of your collage. Also collect images of the faces and bodies of individuals who would be considered the leaders and the followers. These can be clipped from magazines or taken off the internet.

Mar. 5& 7  Spring Break

Readings:
Kelle Lasn, Culture Jam: The Uncooling of America, Chapters 1&2
Roland Barthes, “Operation Margarine”

Mar. 14  The Use of Collage as Social Commentary
Reading:
Scott Boylston, “Regimes of Truth”

Mar. 19  Methods of Communication: Visiting Professor Scott Boylston from the Savannah School of Design.

Mar. 20  Professor Boylston available for consultation.

Mar. 21  Professor Scott Boylston, Narrative Structures, Rhythm and the Experience of Sequential Pages

Evening Studio Class 6-10PM: Construction of collage for zines. Bring all of your clippings for your collage to class. Dinner will be served after class and before the design session, which will be held in room 310 of the Modlin Center. Remember to bring your folders with the images that you have collected for your zine.

Mar. 22  Howard Gardner Speaks at 7:30PM at the Jepson Alumni Center

Mar. 26  Leadership as the Art of Changing Minds
Gardner, “The Modern Era and Beyond,” pp. 391-405

Mar. 28
Performers from SPEAK will visit class.

Assignment: Information on the SPEAK Theater Art production of N*W*C: http://www.nwclive.com/ and click "The Show"

Mar. 28 SPEAK Theater Arts, Alice Jepson Theater 7:30 (tickets required)

Part IV: How Art Moves and Motivates People
In this section we look at the broad question: Why do we need the arts? What does art do to people? What do they tell us about ourselves as human beings? What is the relationship between art and the morality of leaders and followers?

Apr. 2
Professor Kathleen Higgins, University of Texas at Austin, The Place of Music in Our Lives

Apr. 4
To be announced

Listening assignment for April 9 distributed in class.

Apr. 9
Why We Need Art

Apr. 11
Class Presentations

Apr. 16
Class Presentations

Apr. 18
Class Presentations

Apr. 23
Exam II

Apr. 25
Conclusion