

Jepson at Cambridge Application for Non-UR Undergraduates

A summer program in Cambridge, England in collaboration with the University of Richmond School of Law

Priority applications are due no later than March 1. The final application deadline is March 17. In the event of limited space, acceptance will be prioritized for students who apply by the priority deadline.

Instructions

The Jepson at Cambridge program is ideal for students majoring in leadership studies with a strong academic record and an interest in law. Courses are taught by world-renowned Cambridge faculty. Visit the Jepson at Cambridge webpage for curriculum and complete details: <https://jepson.richmond.edu/academics/cambridge.html>

No deposit will be required for this opportunity. Full payment of all fees is due by May 15.

You will need to submit an unofficial transcript and a letter of support from a faculty member with your application to: christina.mills2@richmond.edu.

As a condition of acceptance into the program, you will be required to obtain documentation that can reflect the following:

- You are in good academic standing with your home university.
- You have a positive behavioral record with your institution.
